

Taylor Herpin is a motivated problem-solver and advocate. His practice focuses on civil litigation, and he has additional legal experience in business formation, real property title analysis, property tax, and lending transactions.

Mr. Herpin graduated cum laude from the LSU Paul M. Hebert Law Center in 2017. In his first year of law school, he received the CALI Excellence for the Future Award for earning the highest grade in Legal Research and Writing II. Afterward, Mr. Herpin became actively involved in LSU Law's advocacy program, where he served on the Moot Court Executive Board and earned awards and recognition for brief-writing and oral advocacy at both school-wide and national levels. Mr. Herpin was a semifinalist in the 2017 National Environmental Law Moot Court Competition in White Plains, New York. Before law school, Mr. Herpin obtained a B.S. in Finance from Louisiana State University. He was a four-year member of the LSU Tiger Marching Band and served as the band's Drum Major during his senior year.

Prior to joining Cain & Skarnulis PLLC, Mr. Herpin interned for Judge Caroline E. Baker in the 295th District Court in Houston, Texas, and then worked for Creel Law Group in Austin, where he gained experience in both litigation and transactional matters.

Despite his Louisiana roots, Mr. Herpin considers Austin his home. Outside of work, he enjoys running the trails, traveling, playing tennis, and hiking with his dogs, River and Brook.
